

Phoebe Judge

Phoebe Judge is an award-winning journalist whose work has been featured on a numerous national radio programs. She regularly conducts interviews and anchors WUNC’s broadcast of Here & Now. Previously, Phoebe served as producer, reporter and guest host for the nationally distributed public radio program The Story. Earlier in her career, Phoebe reported from the gulf coast of Mississippi. She covered the BP oil spill and the aftermath of Hurricane Katrina for Mississippi Public Broadcasting and National Public Radio. Phoebe’s work has won multiple Edward R. Murrow and Associated Press awards. Phoebe was born and raised in Chicago and is graduate of Bennington College and the Salt Institute for Documentary Studies.

“This is Love, is one of my favorite books—it spreads love to its readers in unusual ways.”
— Amanda Rhea

“So beautifully written with beautiful messages. I am brought to tears during almost every chapter.”
— Bradley Tigani

“The stories told are beautiful, heart-warming, intriguing and absolutely fascinating!”
— Sarah Hearn

“This book is like a warm blanket on a cold night in front of a crackling fire. It is warming, and interesting, and I can’t stop listening.”
— Gynnie Jackson

“This Is Love has stolen my heart.”
— Henry Derrick

$26.95
ISBN: 123-4-567-89012-3

RADIOTOPIA
FRESH PRESS

What Are We Going to do

What are We Going to Do?

Phoebe Judge

Phoebe Judge

Phoebe Judge is an award-winning journalist whose work has been featured on a numerous national radio programs. She regularly conducts interviews and anchors WUNC’s broadcast of Here & Now. Previously, Phoebe served as producer, reporter and guest host for the nationally distributed public radio program The Story. Earlier in her career, Phoebe reported from the gulf coast of Mississippi. She covered the BP oil spill and the aftermath of Hurricane Katrina for Mississippi Public Broadcasting and National Public Radio. Phoebe’s work has won multiple Edward R. Murrow and Associated Press awards. Phoebe was born and raised in Chicago and is graduate of Bennington College and the Salt Institute for Documentary Studies.

“This is Love, is one of my favorite books—it spreads love to its readers in unusual ways.”
— Amanda Rhea

“So beautifully written with beautiful messages. I am brought to tears during almost every chapter.”
— Bradley Tigani

“The stories told are beautiful, heart-warming, intriguing and absolutely fascinating!”
— Sarah Hearn

“This book is like a warm blanket on a cold night in front of a crackling fire. It is warming, and interesting, and I can’t stop listening.”
— Gynnie Jackson

“This Is Love has stolen my heart.”
— Henry Derrick

$26.95
ISBN: 123-4-567-89012-3

How To Live Forever

How to Live Forever

Phoebe Judge

Phoebe Judge

Phoebe Judge is an award-winning journalist whose work has been featured on a numerous national radio programs. She regularly conducts interviews and anchors WUNC’s broadcast of Here & Now. Previously, Phoebe served as producer, reporter and guest host for the nationally distributed public radio program The Story. Earlier in her career, Phoebe reported from the gulf coast of Mississippi. She covered the BP oil spill and the aftermath of Hurricane Katrina for Mississippi Public Broadcasting and National Public Radio. Phoebe’s work has won multiple Edward R. Murrow and Associated Press awards. Phoebe was born and raised in Chicago and is graduate of Bennington College and the Salt Institute for Documentary Studies.

“This is Love, is one of my favorite books—it spreads love to its readers in unusual ways.”
— Amanda Rhea

“So beautifully written with beautiful messages. I am brought to tears during almost every chapter.”
— Bradley Tigani

“The stories told are beautiful, heart-warming, intriguing and absolutely fascinating!”
— Sarah Hearn

“This book is like a warm blanket on a cold night in front of a crackling fire. It is warming, and interesting, and I can’t stop listening.”
— Gynnie Jackson

“This Is Love has stolen my heart.”
— Henry Derrick

$26.95
ISBN: 123-4-567-89012-3

Eight Thousand Miles

Eight-Thousand Miles

Phoebe Judge